Together they moved to Colorado Springs where she had a fruitful career, raised her beloved sons whom she was so proud of, and devoted her life to Catholic faith. Kindness for others was a character trait that shone through her daily life. She had a generous heart and was known for her rare gift of making everyone feel welcome and valued with her comforting words, beautiful smile, helping hand, and powerful prayers.

She had a great sense of humor, loved to cook, enjoyed planting flowers and took great pride in caring for her home and tending to her own yard work.

Some of her hobbies included volunteer work, traveling, sewing, crocheting special blankets for every new baby in the family, and making handmade rosaries and creative cards that became treasured holiday and birthday traditions. She was a passionate Broncos fan who never missed a chance to cheer them on.

Lucille's caring spirit and compassion reflected her deep love for God, family, and friends. She touched many lives during her lifetime and was cherished by all.
